NATB fell by 7.89% yTD. It was ranked second-to-last in turnover on the LuSE, trading ZMW10,352 for the year 2023, recording 32 trades. This low turnover is underpinned by NATB's lack of dividends as the latter are detrimental to activity and performance on the LuSE. It is an extremely illiquid stock.

NATB experienced an increased volume of 33% in 2023 reporting year. A combination of a richer sales mix and price adjustments, in response to the rapid increase in production costs and overheads led to doubling of revenues. To cushion the business against future cost escalations the company embarked on an inaugural grain contracting programme with smallholder farmers for sorghum crop. Demand was strong in the first half of the reporting year but softened in the second half following a 11% price adjustment and the subsequent overpricing by traders.

DEVELOPMENTS IN 2023

Gross revenue grew 103% because of the impact of the strategic shift in sales mix towards high value packaged products and the aforementioned price increase. However, the latter did not fully cover the impact of cost escalation, resulting in an operating loss.

During the second half of the year NATB launched a new product offering, Chibuku Super Banana.
